Fieldstone is hand crafted from limestone quarried in Eastern Pennsylvania. With a rugged surface and varying sizes and shapes, Fieldstone is characteristic of a mosaic style, which complements any range of designs from rustic to contemporary.

"John and I and the neighborhood would like to compliment the crew on a job well done. They gave 200%. Their work habits, and respect/courteous manners shown to all while working on this job should be commended."

- Debbie and John Barrett

Cobblestone, reminiscent of 19th-century American architecture, offers an ageless feel of hand carved stone. The formal appearance and more uniform look of Cobblestone will add elegance with sophisticated detail for a natural look.

"I greatly appreciate the quality of work performed. I also want to give recognition to the fact that they were able to listen to my vision and turn it into reality."

- Race Roth

Drystack originates from its use in stone walls and stone fences. The distinctive appearance of Drystack offers a thin, linear shape with a weathered face. With a stacked facade, Drystack creates dimension and depth and a pronounced shadow effect. From classic to modern-day design, Drystack lends authenticity and a sense of tradition.

"I would like to make special note of the outstanding efforts of the crew in tackling this challenging job. We were putting stone facing on the front of our house beneath our wrap-around porch and on the face of our garage. The porch has a stained wood ceiling, as well as a mahogany floor. The crew did an absolutely outstanding job protecting the porch floor and ceiling from potential damage, and not only delivered an absolutely beautiful result, but cleaned up the job site before they left. And they accomplished this in one day!"

- Mark E.

Ohio Drystack is similar to standard Drystack, horizontally rectangular in shape but carrying a more precise, low-relief modern face. Its consistent shape allows for a beautiful fit and lends itself very well to being dry-laid, as the name implies.

"Everyone was very helpful and the job went very smoothly and came out beautifully."

- Barbara M.

Ohio Cobblestone presents a hand-hewn sandstone face, sculpted edges, and a definitively tailored style. Ohio Cobblestone replicates stone used in castles and courtyards, lending stature and grace to any project design.

"Thank you so much for such a beautiful job! We love it!"

Brookstone replicates stone found in mountain rivers and streams that have tumbled downstream for centuries. With rounded edges, smooth boulder surfaces, and random patterns, it flows with authenticity and is visually stunning with a powerful presence. Architects utilize Brookstone to create substance and dimension.

"I am writing to you to express my admiration and appreciation for the fine young men who were responsible for doing all the stone work on our new building. I know very few people who have that degree of discipline and commitment and because of that, I applaud them and congratulate you for having such great employees."

-Carlton M.

Tuscarora

"The crew that did the installation did an unbelievable clean up! I had an oil tank below ground taken care of at about the same time, there was some sand left on my steps, your guys cleaned that up also! My wife & I were amazed by the work the guys did! Thank You!"

- Steven A. Kucinski Jr.

Sandstone has a refined but rugged look. With a mosaic pattern, vivid colors, and a sandy pebbled texture, Sandstone provides an artistic flare compatible in commercial, residential, and provincial designs.

"Your sales people are extremely helpful. I am a handyman with limited experience. They all went overboard to help me with my questions."
