You want to create a sense of history with your new building. So you turn to 17th Century® brick. Since each brick is individually formed in a handcrafted wooden mold, no two bricks are exactly alike. We can even craft unique molds just for your project – allowing you to specify one-of-a-kind shapes for sills, arches, and other distinctive design elements. 17th Century bricks are the building blocks that let you create a warm and highly individualized look in the timeless tradition of fine architecture.
