Quality, On-Time Delivery & Craftsmanship

A Decision that Will Last for Generations

The decisions you will make to design and purchase church furniture are decisions that will influence your worship community for generations. The New Holland Church Furniture team understands the importance of your decision and our design team will work with your design team to produce virtually any custom or standard furniture that your dream requires.

The worship experience represents who you are, as a church or synagogue, as a community, and as a body of believers. This includes a visual, auditory, physical, and spiritual experience. All of these elements and more must be considered when designing and buying furniture for your church or synagogue.

Quality

Our definition of quality is "conformance to our customers' requirements." We know that our customers expect a Quality Product, On-Time Delivery, and Craftsmanship.

As a member of the Architectural Woodwork Institute, New Holland Church Furniture has earned the mark of quality workmanship. AWI is an independent non-profit organization that sets stringent, high standards for the woodworking industry nationwide. These independent quality standards are built into every New Holland product. Consider choosing only a manufacturer who is a member of the AWI and meets their quality standards.

Look for the AWI seal from your manufacturer.

On-Time Delivery

Over the years, New Holland has earned a superior track record of on-time delivery with our customers. To ensure on-time delivery, a project manager is assigned to your project and is responsible for coordinating project details, starting with designs, working drawings, material selection and continuing through production, scheduling, and installation.

Craftsmanship

Proof of our quality craftsmanship is in the end result of our custom and standard furniture. New Holland employs only the finest craftsmen in the industry that we refer to as "wood artists." Our custom craftsmen incorporate woodworking talent together with the skill of an artist to build our custom and standard furniture. Specialized craftsmanship is more than just talk, it is indeed a reality at New Holland.

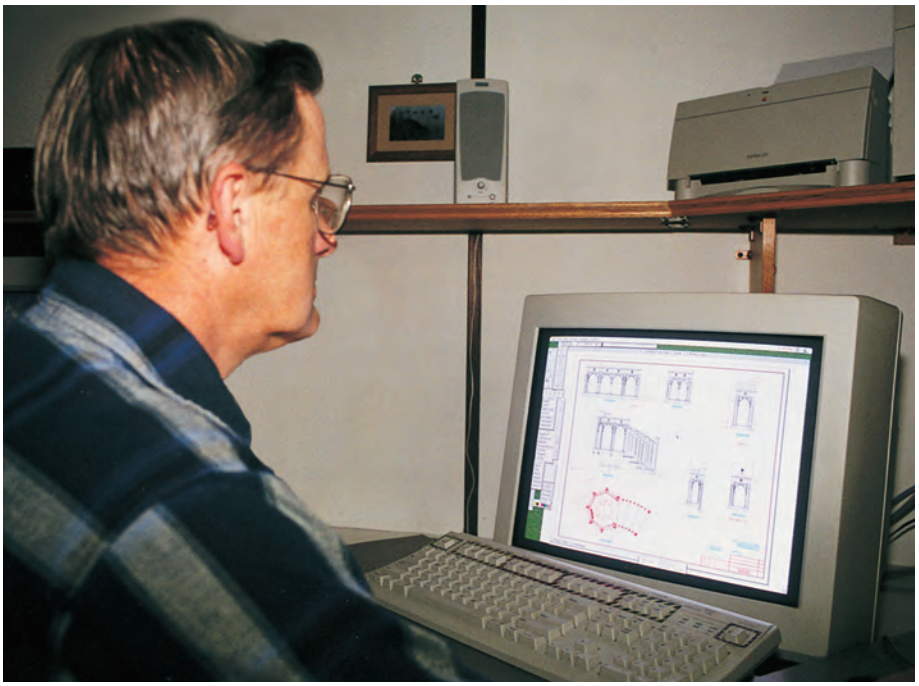

New Holland's attention to detail.

Wood Finishing and Wood Selection

Timeless Elegance

New Holland's wood furniture is designed and produced to enhance the architecture of the worship area. The natural beauty of wood furniture simply cannot be matched.

New Holland uses only the highest grade FAS hardwood lumber, (as specified by the National Hardwood Lumber Association NHLA and Architectural Woodwork Institute AWI).

Finish Varieties

New Holland's wood furniture can be finished to match existing furniture or custom finished to match your designer's specification. New Holland also offers a wide variety of standard finishes.

Wood Choices

New Holland offers a variety of wood species. Our standard wood is Northern Appalachian Red Oak, which can be combined with other species. Additional wood selections, which are commonly available, include:

- European Beech
- White Oak
- Maple
- Mahogany
- Cherry
- Walnut

A large selection of wood allows the design professional to creatively combine two or more species of wood or specify an additional inlaid wood design in any piece of furniture.

Wood Staining

New Holland's standard finishing method "hand rubs" the stain into the grain of the wood. "Hand rubbing" the initial stain and "cross wiping" it into the wood provides a deeper penetration into the grain resulting in a distinguished appearance of the wood's natural beauty.

New Holland's craftsmen hand stain all of our church furniture.

The Final Wood Finish

After staining, we apply a vinyl sealer that seals the wood before applying our top coat.

New Holland currently uses the AWI Premium Conversion Varnish finish on all of our products.

Church Furniture

St. Martin's Episcopal Church

Located in Houston Texas, St. Martin's Episcopal Church was built around their new Opus No. 145, Schoenstein Organ.

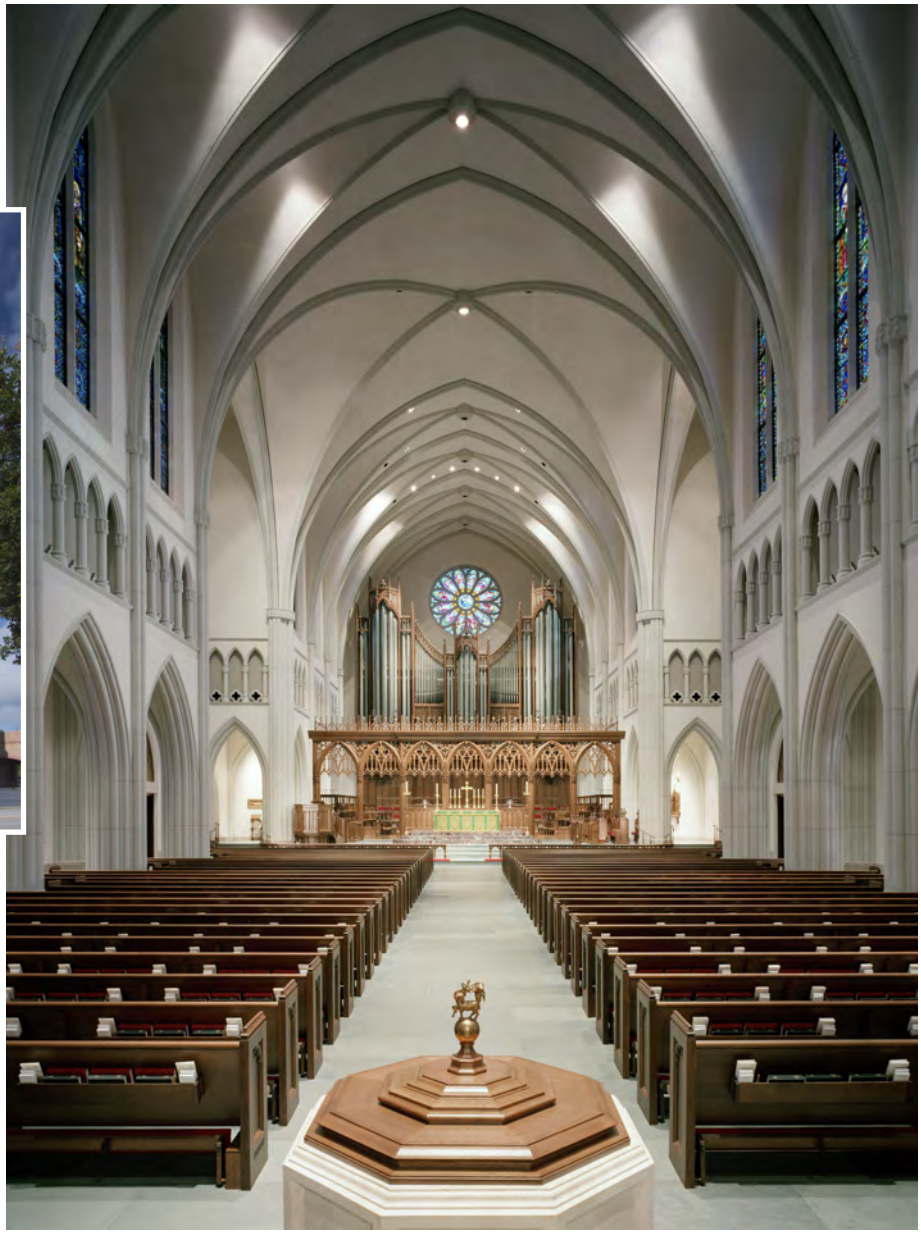

New Holland Church Furniture was selected to provide custom furniture using the finest wood, finishes, carving details, and craftsmanship. Working from the liturgical designers' drawings, New Holland's designers developed the working drawings that included tracery panel and carving detail.

The wood used for this project was quarter sawn white oak. This very special cut results in boards with straight, fine grain and prominent exposed ray flecks. The details on the furniture were hand-carved by our woodcarvers. Every detail of the tracery, pinnacles, corbels, and leaf carvings were carved by hand.

If You Can Imagine It, We Can Build It at New Holland Church Furniture. Our design team will work with your design team to produce virtually any custom or standard furniture that your dream requires.
