

Environmentally Compliant

At Pergo®, we feel strongly that we have a responsibility to our environment. Pergo was one of the first laminate manufacturers to meet the environmental requirements to become ISO 14001 certified. In addition, Pergo flooring products have been awarded the Green Swan of the Nordic Environmental Label.

Recycling is a key component of our environmental policy. Greater than 80% of the material in our floors is from wood, most of which is derived from the waste material of the lumber industry. We use only renewable wood types like spruce and pine. Endangered wood is never used to make a Pergo floor.

Pergo floors are allergy friendly, resistant to static electricity and have natural anti-bacterial properties.
